

CBOSS DELIVERS WEB AND E-PAYMENT SOLUTIONS TO RURAL GEORGIA HOSPITAL GROUP, HOMETOWN HEALTH

For Release – October 29, 2009

BOARDMAN, OH - IT software solutions provider CBOSS (www.CBOSS.com) today announced that it has developed a web site solution and an e-payment portal for HomeTown Health, a rural hospital association that serves hundreds of communities throughout the state of Georgia.

CBOSS developed a new web site for HomeTown Health (www.hometownhealthonline.com) using the ArchITech Content Management System. The new site allows HTH to manage and share information with association's 100 members and vendor partners. Managing the content and graphics of a website using the ArchITech CMS requires no technical skills, allowing HTH staff to keep information and graphics current and up to date.

HomeTown Health is also using the CBOSS Central Payment Portal, an online payment processing software service, to accept member dues online via credit card. The CPP is a flexible payment engine that integrates with any front-end billing application or back-end accounting system. A full range of reporting capabilities provides a 360-degree view of the transaction and settlement process.

"We are very pleased to be providing both the ArchITech CMS and CPP solutions to HomeTown Health," said Aaron Lego, CBOSS business development director. "Their use of ArchITech and the CPP gives HomeTown Health a host of benefits in managing, sharing and collecting information both internally and with their members, 24/7.

As a Silver Partner member of HomeTown Health's vendor program, CBOSS will have the opportunity to work with other association members to provide a range of IT solutions – websites, online payment processing, hosting services, or custom software development.

"We aim to be the IT vendor partner of choice to HomeTown Health members,' Lego added. "We have the solutions, service and expertise to help hospitals gain better control of their revenue cycle and focus on the goals of operational efficiency and growth.”

About HomeTown Health, LLC

HomeTown Health is an organization of rural and small hospitals, located throughout the state of Georgia, who collectively pursue ways to help our hospitals survive in this environment of tremendous budget cuts from the state and federal level. The association began as a handful of community hospitals 10 years ago and has grown into an organization of over 50 hospital members and over 50 business partners.
